Why this matters

Manual supplier checks are slow, inconsistent, and difficult to scale.

Regulatory and market expectations around due diligence and supply chain transparency are increasing. Companies need to verify claims, demonstrate compliance, and act quickly when risks arise.

The PEFC API enables this by providing direct access to trusted, up-to-date certification data.

How it works

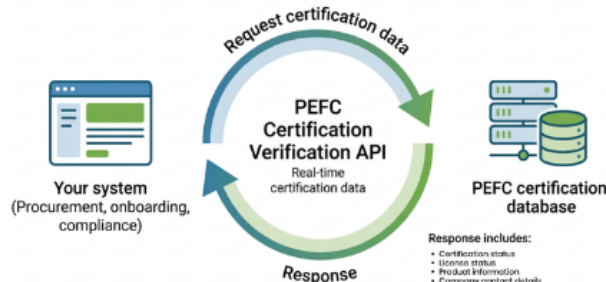

The PEFC API connects your systems directly to PEFC certification data.

Query certification and licence information in real time

Retrieve linked organisation and certification details

Use up-to-date information to support sourcing and compliance decisions

How supplier verification works in practice

What you can do

Verify suppliers before onboarding

Confirm certification status instantly before adding new suppliers to your network.

Support due diligence and compliance

Access reliable certification data to support audits, reporting, and regulatory requirements.

Monitor supplier status over time

Ensure certification remains valid across your supply chain with real-time data.

Strengthen procurement decisions

Integrate certification checks directly into sourcing and procurement workflows.

Key benefits

Instant verification

Check the certification status of organisations and suppliers in seconds.

Up-to-date certificate data
